

Debra Ann Fleming

March 23, 1952 - October 17, 2025

Debra Ann Fleming was born on March 23, 1952, in Baltimore, Maryland, to the late Naomi Watkins Williams and Alfred Smith. A proud graduate of Forest Park Senior High School, Debra carried her Baltimore roots wherever she went.

She was united in marriage to the late Wayne Tyrone Fleming, Sr., and together they built a beautiful family. From this loving union came three children: the late Jermon Nichole Fleming Quesada Walters, Wayne Tyrone Fleming, Jr., and the late Warren Tee Fleming.

Debra was one of eleven siblings and is lovingly survived by four: Lamont Watkins Sr., Vanessa Williams, April Watkins Smith, and Yvette Watkins White. She also leaves behind a host of grandchildren, great-children, nieces, nephews, cousins, and friends who adored her deeply.

To know Debra was to love her. She had an infectious spirit and a heart for entertaining- her home was always filled with laughter, love, and the delicious aroma of her legendary cooking. A true natural in the kitchen, she inherited her culinary gifts from her mother and rarely followed a recipe- she simply knew how to make a meal unforgettable.

Her favorite color was blue, a reflection of her calm yet vibrant personality.

She admired actor Samuel L. Jackson and shared his boldness and sense of humor. Debra found joy in knitting with her sister, quilting intricate masterpieces, and sewing heartfelt creations for family and friends.

She loved to lose herself in stories of Medieval times and to explore new places through her many travels around the world. Debra's adventurous soul, creative hands, and nurturing heart touched everyone who had the privilege of knowing her. After a courageous battle with her health, she peacefully departed this life on October 17, 2025. Though she is no longer with us, her legacy of laughter, and strength will live on in all who knew her.
